DEATHS TOTAL 7,432

INFLUENZA IN ARMY CAMPS IS ON THE DECREASE

20,000 CASES IN CAPITAL

Crowded Conditions in Washington Have Aided in Spread.—Brother of Rep. Booher Dies in N. Y.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11, 1918.
(By W. C. Van Cleve.)

The doctors say the influenza conditions in Washington are getting better. Only 1,701 new cases were reported this morning against 2,700 yesterday morning. There were, however, 72 deaths yesterday against 50 the day before. Since last Saturday there have been 7,046 new cases reported in the District of Columbia, and it is estimated that there are now about 20,000 cases here.

According to reports received at the Surgeon General's office, the situation in the army camps has improved. During the past 24 hours 12,321 new cases were reported from the various army camps including 2,797 new cases of pneumonia. There were 889 deaths among the soldier boys yesterday, an increase of 69 over Wednesday. The total number of influenza cases reported at the army camps up to date has been 211,000. There have been 25,683 cases of pneumonia and 7,432 deaths. In the hygienic laboratory of the Public Health Service 250 physicians are working to devise some effective means of checking the spread of the nation wide epidemic.

Notice was given in the House of Representatives today that, unless government departments and department agencies ceased to call for more employees during the scourge, a resolution would be introduced next Monday warning the young people of the country to stay at home.

It is probable that the larger number of deaths in this city have been due to over crowded conditions and to lack of attention. There are not enough doctors, there are practically no nurses, and almost every man, woman and child out of jail has some sort of job. So there is no one to be hal to stay with the sick. In addition to that, many have become panic stricken and will absolutely not go near strangers who are sick. Representative Hamlin, of Springfield Mo., received a telephone message from some one day before yesterday advising him that a young lady, daughter of a prominent citizen of his home town, was lying seriously ill at a hospital here without a nurse. He went over at once to see what could be done and found she had just died. She came here a week ago last Sunday to take a position. Another girl it is said was taken from her room in a private boarding house a few days ago almost deranged. Her room mate had died and she had been forbidden to leave the room and no one about the house would go into it. She had been forced to remain with the dead body of her friend until she was almost crazed.

The undertakers have not only had their forces taxed to the limit but have not been able to provide enough coffins to meet the demand and advertisements have appeared in the newspapers for grave diggers.

Representative Booher has been called to New York to attend the funeral of his aged brother. About a month ago he was called there on a similar mission, this being the second brother he has lost within a month. These deaths were however not from influenza.

The housing situation here will be somewhat improved when a number of dormitory buildings are completed that are being erected to house young women war workers. About twelve years ago congress appropriated about eight million dollars to take over eleven blocks of buildings and ground between the capitol and union station with a view to razing the buildings, mostly boarding houses, and making of this ground an extension of the capital grounds and establishing a beautiful boulevard from the union station to the Peace monument. It was one of the last acts of congress during Uncle Joe Cannon's reign as Speaker of the House. This work has gone on leisurely ever since until last spring when practically all the buildings had been torn down and much of the ground had been graded and seeded to grass. In the early summer, congress appropriated ten million dollars to provide additional housing facilities for war workers and for the last sixty days workmen have been busy building dormitories in these same grounds. They hope to have them finished by December first. Each building will have about seventy five rooms and be in charge of a matron and be under strict rules. The life will not appeal to all but those who get into these buildings will be better off than most of those who get into a boarding house among strangers and have to take a hall room at an exorbitant price.

Incidentally, the Huns are on the run and the dawn of a better day draws just a little nearer.

NO COURT UNTIL JANUARY

Postponed Term Announced for October 21 Will Go Over, It Is Decided, Following Bar Meet.

At a meeting of the members of the Nodaway county bar with Judge Dawson this morning, it was decided not to hold court next week on account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza. This term of court will go over until the January term. A two-days session of this term of court was held September 23 and 24, and adjournment was taken then until October 21 on account of all of the attorneys being busy in helping registrants in making out their questionnaires.

LIEUT. BURNS TO THE S.A.T.C.

Army Officer Will Have Permanent Charge of Work Here.—Mess Hall and Kitchen Not Ready For Use.

With other classes at the Normal having been dismissed following the influenza order closing all schools and other public places indefinitely the Student Army Training Corps, unaffected by the order is continuing work uninterrupted. Being under the direction of the government the city has no control. In permanent charge of the military work of the corps Lieut. Burns of the U. S. A., is now stationed here, having arrived last Saturday. Lieut. Du Rette will divide his time between Maryville, Tarkio and Coin, Ia. looking after the units at these places.

The barracks on the fourth floor of the building are now being occupied and the boys are getting their first taste of army life. "Chow" is still provided at a downtown restaurant, all the kitchen equipment not having yet arrived. It is expected that it will be ready for use before the end of the week, however, after which the only time the men will be seen off the campus will be when they have "permission" from Saturday noon until Sunday at taps.

SON OF JUDGE DRAIN DEAD

Grandson of Mrs. Martha E. Turner Dies Wednesday at Ft. Monroe, Va., Maryville Relatives to Funeral.

Benjamin Stanford Drain, the son of Judge V. L. Drain and Mrs. Drain of Shelbyville, Mo., and a grandson of Mrs. Martha E. Turner of West Third street, died Wednesday of pneumonia following an attack of Spanish influenza.

The young man was in naval service on board the Alabama at Fortress Monroe, Va. No particulars have been learned regarding his death. At the time of his enlistment last spring young Drain was a student at the Missouri state university at Columbia. He entered the radio corps of the naval service and at the end of a course of training was to enter Harvard in a similar work in the student army corps. This preliminary course was practically complete and he would have entered Harvard in a few weeks.

Young Drain was of a fine personality and character and admired and loved by all of his associates, both at home and in college. He graduated from the Shelbina high school and was in his second year at the Missouri university when he enlisted. He had secured his credits to enter Harvard and gave up his work to enter the radio service last spring. He was 22 years old. Besides his parents the young man is survived by a sister, Catherine, a student at Howard Payne college, Fayette, Mo., and a younger brother, Vernon L., Jr.

Mrs. Turner, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Augustus Romasser, left this morning for Shelbyville to attend the funeral. Mr. Romasser will leave later. No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made. Young Drain visited frequently in Maryville and he and all of the family have many friends in Mrs. Drain's home town who sympathize deeply with them in this bereavement.

WE'RE NOT QUITTERS

"NODAWAY WILL RAISE HER QUOTA, OR WILL RAISE HELL"

1-4 MILLION YET TO GET

Executive Committee in Session Today Will Devise Ways and Means to Put County "Over the Top."

The following telegram was received yesterday by Chairman W. C. Pierce of the Liberty Loan Committee.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 12, 1918.
Mr. W. C. Pierce,
Maryville, Mo.

We cannot too strongly impress upon you and your people the fact that there must be no slackening of effort in the Liberty Loan campaign on account of the publication of the news of Germany's acceptance of peace terms. It would be nothing short of a tragedy in American history if the loan should fail. Our task is not by any means finished, and Germany is watching the results of our loan just as closely as ever. The facts are that the money which is being subscribed to this loan has already been contracted and actually spent by the Government. Furthermore, our Government has enormous outstanding obligations yet to be met and unless every unit in the loan organization of the Tenth District meets its full obligations we may properly be called quitters. Give this information the widest possible publicity. We hope to be advised to the effect Nodaway County is no quitter and that your full quota will be raised.

CENTRAL LIBERTY LOAN COM.,
Tenth Federal Reserve District.

A reply to the message was not long in getting on the wire and the Central Committee at Kansas City was

"Nodaway county is not a quitter and will raise her full quota or will raise hell, or both," the answer read.

With six days left in which to raise our quota there is still over a quarter of a million dollars yet to be subscribed. With reports in from practically all townships in the county, Chairman Pierce had approximate totals before him this morning. "Subscriptions to date," he said "are approximately $1,000,000, or $283,000 short. The greater percentage of shortage is in Polk township where our subscriptions up to this time reach about $180,000, against a quota of $296,000. This leaves in this township alone something like $116,000 yet to be raised, and this after the territory has already been canvassed."

The executive committee is in session today going carefully over all subscriptions, looking into those who have not subscribed at all and those who have not subscribed in proportion to their means, and they are devising ways and means of raising the rest of the quota. It is likely that announcement will be made today of the standing of each township and what action will be taken to secure further subscriptions.

"Several other townships are short, but none of them materially so but Hughes and Green," said Chairman Pierce, "but there is no doubt but what the people of these townships will take on renewed effort and raise their required quotas."

"In every township in the county there are those who have not done their full duty," said Mr. Pierce, "and their cases will be given attention. Generally speaking, the people have subscribed well, but they have not got on quite a high enough plane. Rather they have been plowing, but not deep enough, and we will have to go back with a 'sub-soiler.'"

A LETTER FROM M'DOUGAL

Word From Home Reaches Him After Two Months.—Says He Is in Good Health and Feeling Fine.

In a letter from Frank McDougal, a prisoner in the German camp at Stamlager, just received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McDougal, he writes as follows:

Stamlager Limburg a-L, July 7, 1918.

Dear Mother: Am in fine health and since the Red Cross packages came am getting along better and hope you are in good health.

Received a letter from you dated April 8 on about June 8 only taking about two months to come, and in May received a card from the Red Cross inquiring for me and hope you have received the answer before now.

As you have stated in the letter things have sure happened and I might not have exactly enjoyed it all but am none the worse off for having received it.

Have received no (packages (probably) ½ inch of censor's black ink blots out the remainder of the page and 2 in. of blots out the top of the next two pages).

Hoping you are all in the best of health and Good Luck and "Don't Worry."

Love to all,
FRANK McDOUGAL.

THREE NEW CASES REPORTED

Slight Spread of Influenza Epidemic Encourages Physicians to Believe It Will Soon Be Checked.

For the second time in the history of the town there were no church services at any of the houses of worship yesterday and Maryville had to be content to stay at home, the influenza closing order having prohibited the gathering of more than twenty persons at any one place. The schools and churches were ordered closed during the winter of 1914, when an epidemic of scarlet fever visited Maryville.

Dr. F. M. Ryan today reports that but three new cases have been reported since Saturday night, all having it in mild form. "The situation is looking good," said Dr. Ryan, "and the cases that have been quarantined are all getting along nicely. In none of them have any complications developed and the physicians are greatly encouraged to believe that the epidemic will not prove serious here."

Dr. Ryan would not say when the ban would be lifted and schools and public meetings might be resumed.

American People Are Asked by Washington to Withhold Judgment on Reply.—Can Await Wilson's Verdict With Confidence.

Paris, Oct. 14.—As a result of conference of the past few days complete accordance has been reached between the Allied governments and President Wilson that there shall be no armistice granted Germany unless Germany completely surrenders and gives guarantees to the Allied demands, the International News Service learned this afternoon.

London, Oct. 14.—England will not consider any suggestion of armistice unless naval guarantees are given sufficient to prevent Germany from renewing the struggle, it was reported from a high source this afternoon.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, following a conference with President Wilson this afternoon declared the country could depend on the President taking action which in no way would weaken the military advantages secured by the Allied armies.

Rome, Oct. 14.—Germany has ordered the evacuation of the inhabitants of over forty Alsatian towns between the Swiss frontier and Colmar, it was reported today. Americans are facing the Germans on the Italian frontier.

Washington, Oct. 14.—That the majority if not all of the president's cabinet were unalterably opposed to making any concessions to Germany became known here today. They pointed out it was decidedly unfair to assume the president would adopt any policy that was not one hundred per cent American. All official Washington was insisting today the American people can await the verdict of the president with supreme confidence.

Rome, Oct. 14.—"We must not allow the beaten enemy to filch from us the property we have gained at cost of so much blood," declared Premier Orlando in discussing Germany's reply to President Wilson.

London, Oct. 14.—It is reported from authoritative sources in Poland today that the resignation of Maximilian, the German chancellor, is imminent, said a Rotterdam dispatch to the Telegraph. The Kaiser, said the same dispatch, is suffering from fits of mental depression, verging on disorder. It is reported he contemplates abdicating in favor of his grandson.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Germany's official answer to President Wilson's note has not been received in Washington. Secretary of War Baker returned yesterday from the western battle front prepared to give some inside information on the broken condition of the German military power of which the world necessarily does not know at this time.

A woman appeared at the window of Arch Frank, paying teller at the Farmers Trust Co., the other day presenting a check for $50 to be cashed. "What denomination," asked Arch. "I'm a Methodist? What are you?" the woman answered.

To the townships that are still lagging in the Liberty Loan: Don't kick. Kick in.

What becomes of all the lead pencils the women borrow "just for a moment" from their husbands? Do they sell them, or something?

Richard Kuchs would like to take the Kaiser and several hundred of his henchmen and exhibit them over here after the war at $5 per exhibit and when the "show" no longer played to standing room, take them back and jail 'em for life. There is only one drawback to the plan. There wouldn't be any kaiser or henchmen to show after the "first nighters" got through with them.

The rabid reformers are going to be surprised when they die to find that hell is just as thickly populated as it was before the "bone dry" law and national prohibition went into effect; that there are many citizens there, who while here on earth opposed the Sunday moving picture shows; that people continue to discover new ways of going to hell.

What Germany Must Pay.

Those persons who are predicting an early peace, that "the war will be over by Christmas," have probably not "counted the cost" to Germany.

President Wilson has made it plain to the world that nothing will be accepted from Germany but unconditional surrender, and that when peace comes the terms will be dictated absolutely by the Allies.

It is not for a moment to be doubted that Germany, while she can never atone for the brutalities and unspeakable outrages perpetuated on the defenseless women and children of Belgium and France, will be required to make good to the last dollar for all the material damage caused the entente allies.

Germany must at least make financial restitution, and no man can foretell the amount of money it will take to pay the bill.

Germany will owe Belgium considerable money after the war. It had held the little kingdom up for indemnities amounting to more thn $465,000,000 a year ago, and exclusive of enormous fines assessed against Belgian cities, firms and individuals, and other big and little thefts, and a huge total for the wrecking of Belgium.

And this, remember, will be only a drop in Germany's peace bucket.

Germany must pay. The Kaiser and his followers and advisers know they must pay, but they know not how. A debt-ridden Germany for untold years looms in the allied peace.

Delaying the fatal day will only add to the size of Germany's burden, but as the Hohenzollern dynasty will inevitably crumble with the coming of peace, it is but natural, perhaps, that the defenders of a tottering throne should stay the crash as long as possible.

The Kaiser and his followers will sue for peace on the terms of the Allies only when forced to do so.

The fate of the Czar of all the Russias will be the fate of Kaiser Wilhelm and his degenerate sons.

For the School Lunch Basket.

School lunches for the children have again become the chief thought for many mothers in the morning. It is easy enough to prepare wholesome milk dishes when the children are at home, but to find something that will pack safely in a basket or pail is another question.

The subject of food for children has become vital this year when it is realized as never before how necessary it is to provide for the coming generation. School lunches which will be economical and which, above all, will provide sufficient nourishment must be carefully planned by housekeepers.

A few suggestions of wholesome basket lunches are offered by the United States Food Administration.

Cheese sandwiches, orange, dates stuffed with nuts.

Hard cooked eggs, crisp baking powder biscuits, celery, prunes stuffed with peanut butter.

Baked bean and lettuce sandwiches, apple sauce, small cakes.

Potato Meat Dumplings.

Take any pieces of cold cooked meat, chop them fine, season carefully with salt, pepper, chopped parsley or celery. To each pint allow two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. For the crust you may use left over cold mashed potatoes; if so, add a little milk and stir them over the fire until smooth and hot. If potatoes are boiled for the purpose, add salt, butter, and milk, and beat them until light. Line to the depth of one inch, a baking dish, put the meat in the center, cover the top with mashed potatoes, smooth, brush with milk and bake in a moderate oven a half hour.

MONASTERIES HIGH IN AIR

Greek Religious Buildings Constructed in the Fourteenth Century, Are Difficult of Access.

Perched lightly on the dizzy summits of the cliffs of Meteora are the monasteries of the air. They are simple buildings, these old Greek monasteries, austere and unadorned, and if they are not literally resting on air certainly they are as far as is practicable from the earth and its influences.

To reach the monasteries it seems as if an airplane would be needed, for they are built each on a separate rock several hundred feet high. The cliff sides rise in perpendicular steepness, which would baffle the most daring of mountain climbers. Only when the cliffs are nearly approached can the tiny ladders and ropes which bind the peaks to the valley be seen. The old monasteries were built, they tell us, in the fourteenth century, yet no substitute for the medieval method of ascent has ever been made. Convenience and comfort are not sought by the monks, and tourists like the novelty of climbing the frail swinging ladder or of being hauled up in a jolting cage propelled by a rope.

Some of the seven monasteries may not be visited by the public; the halls and altars of the others are open to the inspection of those who will risk their necks for the privilege of the sight. Once, the monks say, there were ever twenty of these monasteries among the clouds, but the fate of all but the seven is hidden in mystery and their very existence is doubtful.—Chicago Daily News.

HAD BEGINNING IN ROMANCE

Pretty Legendary Story Concerning Tea That Dates Some 2,000 Years Before Christ.

The Chinese claim to be the first users of tea as a drink, and how it originated is told in a pretty little legend that dates back 2,000 years before the coming of Christ.

A daughter of a then reigning sovereign fell in love with a young nobleman, whose inferior birth excluded him from marrying her. They managed to exchange glances, and he occasionally gathered a few blossoms and had them conveyed to her.

One day in the palace garden the lovers met, and the young man endeavored to give her a few flowers; but so keen was the watchfulness of her attendants that all she could grasp was a little twig with green leaves.

On reaching her room she put the twig in water, and toward evening she drank the water in which the twig had been kept. So agreeable was the taste that she even ate the leaves and the stalks. Every day afterward she had bunches of the tea tree brought to her, which she treated in the same way.

Imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, the ladies of the court tried the experiment, and with such pleasing results that the custom spread throughout the kingdom—and the great Chinese tea industry became one of the greatest businesses in the world.

Imperfect Shooting Laws.

We have federal laws protecting migratory birds during certain periods, and the government has established many reservations for them. But the laws of our various states are conflicting and confusion often results, to the detriment of the birds.

No better illustration of this can be found than with the robin. In the North it is protected all the year around as a songster. It flies to the North early in the spring and is looked after and cared for until late in the fall. It then goes South, where several of the states allow it to be killed, and it is actually sold in the open markets of a number of Southern cities.

But the general attitude of the people toward birds is changing for he better in all the states, South included. We are coming to understand them—North and South—and with better understanding there comes greater encouragement.—Pennsylvania Grit.

Little-Known Chinese Race.

Down in the extreme south of China, in the eastern outposts of the Himalayas, lies the little-known province of Yunan. The natives of Yunan are exceptionally interesting, writes Roy Chapman Andrews in Asia. There are about thirty non-Chinese tribes in the province, some of which, such as the Shans, Mosos and Lolos, represent the aboriginal inhabitants of China.

The Mosos formerly ruled all of northern Yunan. At present they are scattered in remote districts where white men seldom penetrate. They are a simple, honest and delightful people, primitive and pastoral. They are looked down upon by the Chinese as barbarians. The invariable Moso costume is a brown felt cloak and close-fitting cap.

Differences in Coast Line.

The line of the Atlantic coast is largely of mud and sand, and has very little elevation. On the other hand, the Pacific coast line of Washington, Oregon and California is almost entirely rocky and precipitous. While the Atlantic and Gulf coasts are dotted with numerous harbors where ships may seek safety in time of storm, very different conditions exist on the Pacific, where there are few harbors, and these at long intervals.

Make Most of Apple Crop.

Most people know apples are healthful. But a great many do not know that they are among the most nutritious of fruits and that their value in this way is higher than that of many every day foods commonly regarded as indispensable to our tables. One pound of raw apples has the food fuel value of 290 calories. Translated into every day terms this means that apples have about three fourths the nutritive value of potatoes and as every one knows, potatoes are a solid and dependable food.

Without realizing the real food value of apples, however, people have nevertheless eaten them freely for hundreds of years, yes even back in prehistoric times apples were a common article of food.

Scientists tell us that apples in the common form probably originated thousands of years ago in that part of the world south of the Caucasus and watered by the Tigris and Euphrates—where the garden of Eden is generally supposed to have enchanted our first parents.

America is now the leading apple growing nation of the world. This involves a great responsibility on us this year, for with food all over the world so scarce, it becomes almost a sacred trust not to let any of our apple crop go to waste.

In every home, which has storage facilities, as many barrels of apples as can be used should be stored as soon as the good winter apples are in the market.

Spanish Influenza--What It Is And How It Should Be Treated

Nothing New—Simply the Old Grip, or La Grippe That Was Epidemic in 1889-90, Only Then It Came From Russia by Way of France and This Time by Way of Spain.

Go to Bed and Stay Quiet—Take a Laxative—Eat Plenty of Nourishing Food—Keep Up Your Strength—Nature Is the "Cure."

ALWAYS CALL A DOCTOR.

NO OCCASION FOR PANIC.

Spanish influenza, which appeared in Spain in May, has all the appearance of grip or la grippe, which has swept over the world in numerous epidemics as far back as history runs. Hippocrates refers to an epidemic in 412 B. C. which is regarded by many to have been influenza. Every century has had its attacks. Beginning with 1831, this country has had five epidemics, the last in 1889-90.

There is no occasion for panic—influenza itself has a very low percentage of fatalities—not over one death out of every four hundred cases, according to the N. C. Board of Health. The chief danger lies in complications arising, attacking principally persons in a run down condition—those who don't go to bed soon enough, or those who get up too early.

THE SYMPTOMS.

Grippe, or influenza as it is now called, usually begins with a chill followed by aching, feverishness and sometimes nausea and dizziness, and a general feeling of weakness and depression. The temperature is from 100 to 104, and the fever usually lasts from three to five days. The germs attack the mucous membrane, or lining of the air passages—nose, throat and bronchial tubes—there is usually a hard cough, especially bad at night, often time a sore throat or tonsilitis, and frequently all the appearances of a severe head cold.

THE TREATMENT.

Go to bed at the first symptoms, not only for your own sake but to avoid spreading the disease to others—take a purgative, eat plenty of nourishing food, remain perfectly quiet and don't worry. Quinine, aspirin or Dover's Powder, etc., may be administered by the physician's directions to relieve the aching. But there is no cure or specific for influenza — the disease must run its course, but Nature will throw off the attack if you only keep up your strength. The chief danger lies in the complications which may arise. Influenza so weakens the bodily resistance that there is danger of pneumonia or bronchitis developing, and sometimes inflammation of the middle ear, or heart affections. For these reasons, it is very important that the patient remain in bed until his strength returns—stay in bed at least two days or more after the fever has left you, or if you are over 50 or not strong, stay in bed four days or more, according to the severity of the attack.

EXTERNAL APPLICATIONS.

In order to stimulate the lining of the air passages to throw off the grip germs, to aid in loosening the phlegm and keeping the air passages open, thus making the breathing easier, Vick's VapoRub will be found effective. Hot, wet towels should be applied over the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then VapoRub should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red, spread on thickly and covered with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck as the heat of the body liberates the ingredients in the form of vapors. These vapors inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the parts affected. At the same time, VapoRub is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin, attracting the blood to the surface, and thus aids in relieving the congestion within.

HOW TO AVOID THE DISEASE.

Evidence seems to prove that this is a germ disease, spread principally by human contact, chiefly thru coughing, sneezing or spitting. So avoid persons having colds — which means avoiding crowds—common drinking cups, roller towels, etc. Keep up your bodily strength by plenty of exercise in the open air, and good food. Above all, keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and render them much better breeding places for the germs.

Use Vick's VapoRub at the very first sign of a cold. For a head cold melt a little VapoRub in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or better still, use VapoRub in a benzoin steam kettle. If this is not available, use an ordinary tea-kettle. Fill half full of boiling water, put in half a teaspoon of VapoRub from time to time—keep the kettle just slowly boiling and inhale the steam arising.

NOTE.—Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist, who found how to combine, in salve form, Menthol and Camphor with such volatile oils as Eucalyptus, Thyme, cubebs, etc., so that when the salve is applied to the body heat these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

VapoRub is comparatively new in New York State and New England and a few Western states where it is just now being introduced, but in the other sections of the country it is the standard home remedy in over a million homes for all forms of cold troubles. Over six million jars were sold last year. It is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used as freely as desired without the slightest harmful effects. VapoRub can be had in three sizes at all druggists. Adv.

Good Health From War Diets.

We are all cutting down our meals and eating smaller portions of the foods that must be saved. We are not doing this for better health, but in this case good health is one of the by-products of patriotism. It is true already that a better national health is coming as a result of our voluntary restrictions in diet in order to "eat at a common table" with the Allies.

It goes around in a circle,—patriotism, less food, better health, more patriotism.

This cutting down of food is not going to make us thin and weak. Perhaps the majority of Americans have always eaten too much. Doing without rich desserts to save sugar will cure many cases of indigestion, as will also the giving up of frequent afternoon teas.

Cutting down on meat has had a beneficial effect on many people. It has meant fewer dull headaches and fewer diseases caused by a system over loaded with protein foods.

Get that patriotic feeling that for your country you must cut down your diet. Then naturally will come a new feeling of alertness and physical well-being, and you will find that you have enough new energy to be a better patriot and work harder in whatever you are doing to help bring about an early victory.

There are about 2,000 separate and distinct kind of shells fired from German guns.

Red Cross News From Nodaway Auxiliaries

MRS ARTHUR M. CROOKE
Phone, Hanamo 439

(Note:—Please report or send all news of Red Cross Activities to the editor of this column)

All Workers Notice.—Due to the epidemic of Spanish influenza necessitating the closing for an indefinite period the schools, church, picture shows and places where people gather in crowds, the Red Cross work rooms also will remain closed until the ban is lifted. Headquarters will remain open for the transaction of business as usual. There will be no meetings in the work rooms of auxiliaries until further notice.

Notice to Parents of Soldiers Overseas.—It is necessary for the local chapter to know how many soldiers in overseas service from this county will expect to receive Christmas boxes. The government has ordered that all Christmas packages must come through the Red Cross in boxes that will be furnished by them. Parents and relatives who will send Christmas boxes to soldiers are asked to notify the chapter of the fact so that an order may be placed for the approximate number of boxes that will be required.

Please send to the Red Cross chapter headquarters, the name and army number of the soldier in order that boxes may be obtained for all. The name and number must be written and sent or given in. Positively no telephone calls received. This is to guard against error.

You are urged to attend to this at once, as it will take some little time to get the boxes here. When the boxes are received the parents will be notified.

United Workers auxiliary has completed its quota, sending in 10 helmets, 18 sweaters, 11 pairs socks, 12 comfort kits and 2 night shirts.

Hospital Assistants Needed.

The great need for nurses and hospital assistants has caused the government to remove many of the former requirements for registration.

Girls are accepted who have not had a high school education, a barrier in the way of many capable young women.

A circular from Surgeon General Georgas gives the following definite requirements:

"The Surgeon General offers to women not eligible for admission to the army School of Nursing or the civil hospital schools of nursing an opportunity for service as hospital assistants in the military hospitals to which are to be sent the convalescent sick and wounded soldiers.

"To be eligible for admission candidates must be married women between the ages of 21 and 40 whose husbands are overseas, and who are free to give this service; also single women between the ages of 35 and 45. All candidates must be in good physical condition and of good moral character. They must be graduates of high school or present an acceptable equivalent. They will be assigned to convalescent hospitals in this country where training school units are to be established.

Applications of candidates eligible for enrollment in schools of nursing will not be considered for this service.

"Hospital assistants will be provided with board, lodging and laundry. They will be required to provide themselves with a nursing uniform for the probationary course, and upon its successful completion with a military and such additional uniforms as are required during their service in the hospitals.

"A monthly allowance of $15 will be provided by the government to meet these and other incidental expenses.

"Hospital assistants who have not satisfactorily completed the course given by the American Red Cross in elementary nursing and hygiene, first aid to the injured, and dietetics, will be required to take a similar course extending over a period of at least six weeks.

"All will be required to attend classes and take the examinations in such as may be from time to time determined upon as more efficiently equipping them for the service for which they are assigned.

"Hospital assistants are entitled to medical treatment while on duty. This will ordinarily be furnished at the hospital to which they are assigned; but in proper cases the surgeon general may order transfer to and treatment in some other hospital.

"When treatment required cannot otherwise be had, the necessary civilian service may be employed as authorized by army regulations. Bills contracted by a hospital assistant for medical care while on leave or absent without leave cannot be allowed.

"Frequent absences will be disqualified for service.

"Probationary period will not exceed two months.

"The decision as to the propriety of retaining the service of the hospital assistant upon the completion of the probationary period will be made by the dean of the army school of nursing, upon the recommendation of the chief nurse of the hospital to which she is assigned.

"The connection between the hospital assistant and the army school of training may be severed at any time during the period of service by either if so desired.

"Those who of their own volition severed their connection will not be reinstated, however, unless the reason submitted at the time of their withdrawal be considered adequate.

"Discipline shall accord with that governing the members of the army nurse corps."

United Workers turned in 80 triangulars.

Vacation days have been over about a month and some auxiliaries report three or four members present at the regular weekly meetings. What's the trouble? What if our boys in the trenches failed to return to their task of fighting the Huns after a furlough—we are are looking to them to keep going at the cost of life. It is only asked of us that we keep them supplied with what ever is necessary. Our quota of 4,000 paper backed pads has been received and a large corps of workers will be needed in November. "Every member working" should be the slogan this winter.

Precautions against epidemic. While it is apparently difficult for the health authorities to issue any definite information regarding precautions which the public might take to avoid this epidemic one thing upon which all are agreed is that,the disease is spread by sneezing, coughing and spitting. The public should be warned that all persons avoid sneezing, coughing or spitting in public places, and when such action is unavoidable, that the individual should be careful to cover the mouth and noes completely with the handkerchief to prevent the possibility of spreading any germs into the air. While I understand that the recognized symptoms are at the start similar to the common influenza or bad cold, the dangerous and frequently fatal forms of Spanish influenza, or true influenza are indicated by a temperature and prostration, in which case the person affected should immediately take the bed and send for a physician —never try to go ahead and wear it out. From time to time the division office will transmit to the chapters directions as to specific methods in which the government indicates channels through which the Red Cross can assist the public health authorities in fighting the epidemic.

The Juniors are now well organized for the coming school year and finish-work is coming in to the Maryville high school headquarters for Nodaway county. It will be interesting to the children of the county to know their relation to the Southwestern division and the national organization. The Juniors of Nodaway county are increasing their membership and now number over one thousand. There are one million members in the Southwestern division and over eight millions in the United States. Nodaway Juniors have been complimented for the character and quantity of their production. All war activities have received prompt attention and production has always exceeded the quota.

The Junior pledge of service is: "I pledge myself to honor and serve the flag of my country and to work, save and give in order that the Red Cross, the emblem of humanity, sacrifice and service, may bring relief and happiness to suffering people throughout the world."

The following clipping from Important Items will show the kind of work that is being done.

Good Citizenship.

Educational: First aid, nursing and dietetics, sanitation and public health, home and personal hygiene, American character in literature and history, the new democracy, the ideals of the American Red Cross.

War Relief Activities: Red Cross supplies, manual training, industrial arts, home service, canteen service, camp service.

War-Winning Activities: Government service--food production, food conservation, Liberty bonds, war savings stamps; salvage, civic and community service, library service, printing, entertainments, pageants.

American women are right behind the American troops in the trenches. Women nurses are now installed in hospitals smiles in the roar of the actual fighting line.

Many of our American women are unable to take up the duties of nursing at the front, but they should know how to take care of their own at home, and for this purpose no better book was ever printed than the Medical Adviser—a book containing 1,008 pages, and bound in cloth, with chapters on First Aid, Bandaging and care of Fractures, Taking care of the Sick, Physiology, Hygiene, Sex Problems, Mother and Babe, which can be had at most drug stores, or send 50 cents to the publishers, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The women at home, who are worn out, who suffer from pain at regular or irregular intervals, who are nervous or "blue" at times, should take that reliable, temperance, herbal tonic which a doctor in active practice prescribed many years ago, now sold by druggists, in tablets and liquid, as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Write Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for total package.

Harmony, Mo.—"A few years ago I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription which has been a great benefit to me. I am in excellent health now. I hope that all women who are troubled with women's ills will try this medicine and be benefited as I have been. I think it is the best medicine that is made; it helps me more than any I ever took. I am not able to tell all the many kinds of medicine I have taken with no benefit. Dr. Pierce's remedies are a God-send to humanity."—Mrs. Della Bonnett.

Why You Should Choose a Brunswick

Perhaps you have been wanting a phonograph for some time, yet delayed buying because you were not quite satisfied as to what phonograph to buy.

Or perhaps you have been waiting for a more perfect machine than any you have heard—one which would play all records and in which the tone was clear and mellow instead of strident, harsh or squeaky.

That is the kind of a phonograph you can have if you buy a BRUNSWICK. THE NEW BRUNSWICK is the highest development in phonographs. It is equipped with the Ultona, a simple, convenient all-record player adjustable to any type of record at a turn of a hand. You can buy your records to suit your taste regardless of make. The tone amplifier is built entirely of wood, molded so as to give the sound waves opportunity to develop. There are no harsh metallic sounds.

You will easily see the difference between the BRUNSWICK and other phonographs when you hear one play, and whether you are ready to buy or not, we would like to have you come in any time and listen to the BRUNSWICK.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

EXHIBITS ARE MADE LIFELIKE

Mounting of Natural History Objects in Their Native Surroundings Add to Their Interest.

In the development of the modern museum three stages have been recognized—that of the collection of objects for record, that of supplying materials for research and that of applying the collections to public education. The educational idea is now being developed by instructive display arrangement, loan exhibits for public and private schools and special lectures. The most notable feature is the mounting of natural history objects in the midst of their native surroundings, and much attention is being given at large museums—such as the American Museum of Natural History of New York—to grouping animals in their natural environment of shrubs, trees, flowers, rocks and other objects. In the new exhibition halls of the museum of the California Academy of Sciences, the case for a large mammal or bird habitat group is 25 feet long, 12 deep and 18 high, with a plate glass front 15 feet long and 10 high. Each of the two halls—one devoted entirely to California mammals and the other to California birds—is 180 feet long by 60 wide and 11 of the large cases have been placed in the mammal hall with six in the bird hall. Skylight illumination gives greater brightness in the cases than outside, preventing troublesome reflection from the glass. As a representative group may be taken that of the San Joaquin valley elk, a species of deer now preserved in a few reservations, and this is shown by several individuals standing or crouching in the grass near tree-bordered water, with low hills in the distance, the painted background seeming a continuation of the real scenery.

ON BASIS OF COMPROMISE

Couple's Religious Differences, Which Caused Trouble Once a Year, Settled in Peculiar Manner.

Compromise where political and religious antagonisms are concerned is evidently possible in Belfast, according to the testimony of a recent visitor to that town. One day she had occasion to call at a house where a woman of the Roman Catholic faith had married a Protestant husband. On one side of the mantelshelf was a bust of the pope, on the other a bust of William of Orange. "I suppose you find it very difficult to agree at times?" inquired the visitor. "No," was the ready reply; "we only differ once a year, on the Boyne anniversary, when my husband comes home drunk and smashes my bust of the pope." "Then I suppose you return the compliment by smashing his William of Orange?" "Not at all—I put it in pawn and buy another bust of the pope with the money," was the unexpected answer.—Manchester (Eng.) Guardian.

The Census in Ancient Times.

While the greatest strides in the advance of vital statistics as a science have been made in recent years, their origin may be traced to centuries before Christ. Indeed, Herodotus tells us of a census of Egypt taken about 3050 B. C. for the purpose of making arrangements for the construction of the Pyramids. Elsewhere this same author refers to a second census, taken about 1400 B. C. in Egypt by Rameses II for the purpose of reapportioning all the land of Egypt among his subjects. The Bible tells us that Moses counted the tribes of Israel to determine their fighting strength and that David, about 1018 B. C., took a census for the same purpose. There is a record of a census taken in China about 1200 B. C., when data of the provinces were collected by Uking.—S. W. Wenne, Michigan Bulletin of Vital Statistics.

Waste of Human Material.

Any man who has been in the world forty-five years or more should be a valuable employee. For a man to be shelved at forty-five is wrong, very wrong. For a man to lose confidence in himself because he is forty-five or thereabouts is absurd.

The man who has been in the world forty-five years has had a vast amount of experience and has had the opportunity to observe much that could be turned to good account. The trouble with us is that we do not know where to take our goods to market, or at least we do not know the best market in which to dispose of our goods.

There is a great waste of human material because of its misplacement.

We give more attention to the salesmanship problem in relation to goods than to the infinitely more important subject of human material.—New York Mail.

Sleep Should Be Undisturbed.

People are beginning to realize that sound sleep isn't obtainable in a bed that rattles or squeaks or that shocks the nerves into semi-wakefulness by unusual slippings of the springs or unexpected creakings. The advent of the separate bed and the banishing of the double bed into the limbo of warming pans and nightcaps is a distinct advance from the standpoint of hygiene, sanitation and more rational sleeping habits. When separate beds, or, better still, separate sleeping chambers, are in universal use, men and women, especially nervous men and women, and delicate children, will get a good deal more sleep than they do at present; they'll derive more benefit from the sleep they do get. All this will make it easier for them to do with considerably less sleep than they now require.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT SAW A U-BOAT SUNK

On the books of Troop No. 2 of Ridgefield Park, N. J., he is down as Tenderfoot Scout Richard N. J. Murphy. But it is now months since he has attended a troop meeting, and he says himself that he does not know when he will find time to take his second-class tests. For Scout Murphy has joined Uncle Sam's troop. His hiking ground is the Atlantic ocean, and he's engaged in the perilous business of carrying food across to the allies, in defiance of the U-boats.

"Been across often?" he was asked. "Seven times," he answered. "Any fights?" "Five." "And?" Dick Murphy gave his slow smile. "There's two U-boats that will never trouble a ship again," he said.

He is sixteen past—just a slip of a boy, with a twinkle of adventure in his eyes. Only yesterday, it seems, he was sharing a dog-tent on the overnight hikes of Troop No. 2, and now he is a veteran of service. He has stood his watch through the anxious, spray-flung hours of the night. He has heard the guns of war speak, and has felt the thrill and the tension of battle. Yet, when he comes home for a few days at the end of each dangerous trip, he is the same old Scout Murphy—passionately fond of ice cream sodas, ready for a frolic and a laugh, with his tarnished tenderfoot pin all the while fastened on the inside of his brass-buttoned coat that proclaims him a cadet of the American merchant marine.

BOY SCOUTS AND FIREARMS

The question as to the policy of the Boy Scouts of America with reference to the use of firearms and technical military training for boys of the scout age is apparently not clearly understood by some.

It should be remembered that the scouting program is primarily for boys in their teens. Boys are accepted as members of the Boy Scouts of America at twelve years of age. Indeed, the average age of enrolled scouts is from fifteen to fifteen and a half years.

The scheme of organization and method of carrying out the program are such as to make it necessary and more effective to have all scouts receive the same instruction and pass the same tests for tenderfoot, second-class and first-class degrees and the award of 58 different kinds of merit badges.

Great care has been taken to place emphasis in the scouting program upon things which are of fundamental importance and applicable and most helpful to the largest number of boys of scout age in developing them physically, mentally and morally and preparing them for the responsibilities of citizenship.

SCOUT MAY WEAR "SHORTS."

There never was a time when a boy wasn't interested in pants—whether they should be short or long. Just now the boy scouts have brought up the question of wearing "shorts," as the English scouts do, leaving the knees bare. One official says:

"We adopted shorts as the official camp dress, and I have been wearing them for six weeks myself. I am heartily in favor of making them the official scout 'breeches,' not only for summer but for winter also. I would like to see a more rigid standard set for the scout uniform, and my idea of what it should be is tan shoes, cotton or woolen stockings turned down below the knees, shorts, and scout shirt. Discard the coat altogether. Unless it is made to order it looks sloppy on anyone but a fat scout. It is a nuisance in summer and does not keep you warm in the winter."

SCOUTS AID POLICE FORCE.

Police Chief A. E. Bargren of Rockford, Ill., has sent this letter to a local scoutmaster:

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and the Rockford boy scouts for the good and efficient work performed by them during the celebration. Many words of praise have been spoken for their gentlemanly and patriotic behavior and for the untiring efforts set forth by each and every one of them in protecting the lives and property of our visitors and citizens.

"Personally, I have only words of praise for the boy scouts, and with the training they are receiving the future of our country cannot help to be even greater than it is today."

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

Troop No. 1 of Ridgeway, Mo., helped install a "White City" playground for the children of that city. The paraphernalia was constructed at home by the boy scouts, who are donating their service and time.

Boy scouts of Bowling Green, Ky., all hold commissions as deputy police and have badges as such. They are requested to catch all worthless dogs in Bowling Green. They have already brought in a great number of dogs to the police station.

Services Held This Afternoon at Maryville Furniture Co., Chapel—Burial in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

COMPLETE SURRENDER, ONLY WAY

The government asks the American people to withhold their judgment on Germany's note until President Wilson has received the official communication and has had opportunity to consider it.

President Wilson is expected to decide first whether Secretary Solf's reply to the inquiries addressed to Chancellor Maximilian warrants him in presenting Germany's original proposal to the Entente Allies. It should be borne in mind that the President's inquiry merely was a move ad interim in which he proposed nothing, bound himself to nothing, and merely asked some questions which he declared required an answer before he could go further.

Lacking official guidance on which to base a prediction, observers are forced to record indications. The indications are that there will be no armistice, and that if the Entente Allies were disposed to agree to one they probably would demand as guarantees of good faith that such places as Metz, Strassburg, Trieste and possibly Essen be placed in the hands of Entente forces to guarantee fulfillment of Germany's words.

If Germany expects that by agreeing to the evacuation of occupied territories she will exact the evacuation of German colonies by Entente forces, German statesmen have made another mistake. A reference to President Wilson's inquiry shows that he spoke distinctly in regard to invaded territory occupied by troops of the Central Powers.

While expressing diverging views of the German reply to President Wilson's interrogatories, senators interviewed were a unit in asserting the United States and the Allies should not make peace or enter into an armistice except on a basis of the complete surrender of Germany.

Editorial comment on the German reply from the newspapers is an unanimous opinion that it will be a grave error to permit the Hun to move his armies safely back to his borders unless there be unconditional surrender.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

MRS. B. W. SMITH GAINS 35 POUNDS

"I'll Praise Tanlac As Long As I Live," She Says—Was in Bed Ten Long Months.

"I'll praise Tanlac the longest day I live for giving me back my health," said Mrs. B. W. Smith of 3113 Burdett St., Omaha, Neb., recently, when the special Tanlac representative, who had heard of her remarkable recovery, called to ascertain the facts.

"Eight years ago," continued Mrs. Smith, "I began suffering from stomach trouble, loss of appetite and nervousness. My head ached so at times it felt like it would jump from my shoulders. Then accute rheumatism got hold of me, and pained me so I could not sleep. My feet, knee joints and elbows would swell terribly and the pain was almost unbearable. Before I took Tanlac I had not been up and about, nor able to go down town for three long years, and was in bed for ten months perfectly helpless. I was under treatment every day for three months and I tried everything until the bills got so big I dreaded to think of them, but I never got able to be out of bed but very little.

"I suffered until I lost thirty-five pounds, but I have gotten back every ounce of it since I began taking Tanlac. Pretty soon after I started on it my appetite came back, and I got so I could eat anything. My nerves got stronger, and my pain commenced to get less. After the second bottle I felt much stronger, and it wasn't long before I could get about the house and do my work. I haven't a pain of any kind now, and my sleep is as sound and restful as a baby. I am full of life and energy and feel fully able to go down town when I please, as I can walk and stay on my feet all day. In fact I can do as much work as I ever could in my life, if not more, and I just feel so happy over what Tanlac has done for me that I want everybody to know about it. I have told lots of people about it already and know many who are taking it on account of what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Maryville by The Koch Pharmacy. Adv.
